100,000 Strong Africa Conference

ABOUT HAEC

HBCU Africa Education Coalition Corp. (HAEC) is a registered subsidiary of 3GC Incorporated, a 501(c)(3) organization dedicated to fostering study abroad programs and curriculum development. As the HBCU Africa Education Coalition, we are committed to eliminating disparities in access to study-abroad opportunities on the continent of Africa and its Diaspora. Our organization operates with a deep understanding of the transformative power of global education and strives to provide students of African descent with meaningful opportunities to study abroad.

WHAT WE DO

At HAEC, we leverage the 100,000 Strong Africa Initiative to facilitate access to study abroad opportunities for students of African descent. Through strategic partnerships with universities, governments, and businesses, we have adopted a unique Pan African Study Abroad Model developed by Booker Ammah, Walls, and Walls (2019). This model serves as a roadmap for students and universities, creating sustainable study abroad opportunities and fostering cross-cultural understanding.

OUR MISSION

Our mission is supported by a three-pronged tactical execution strategy. Firstly, we work to increase awareness of the benefits of study abroad programs among students, faculty, and staff at Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs). Secondly, we forge partnerships with organizations, universities, and businesses committed to promoting study-abroad opportunities for students of African descent. Lastly, we provide support and resources to ensure the success of study abroad programs for students, universities, and partners.

WHY ATTEND?

This year's conference will continue advancing our 100K Strong Africa Initiative, fostering strategic partnerships among HBCUs, allied institutions, and African-based universities and organizations. Inspired by the legacy of Pan-African leaders such as Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, Malcolm X, Amy Garvey, Marcus Mosiah Garvey, and W.E.B. DuBois, this conference will explore how Pan-Africanism remains a dynamic movement, continually evolving to meet the challenges of the modern world. Together, we aim to restore freedom and dignity for Africans at home and abroad.

WHAT TO EXPECT
